DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1-3 and 5-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claims contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor, at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. For example, there is no support in the original specification for the following amended claim language: "the driving gear bar is connected to the lifting rack securely" (claim 1, line 9), etc. This is a new matter rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-3 and 5-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over either one of Arnedo, et al. (US 6,655,262) or Birkert, et al. (US 5,044,263) in view of Waak (US 3,765,120) or Ahn (US 5,590,584). Claims 1-3 and 5-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over either one of Arnedo, et al. (US 6,655,262) or Birkert, et al. (US 5,044,263).

Arnedo, et al teaches a transformer installed to reduce the voltage of the alternating current which supplies power to the circuit board (13) through rectifier device (col. 3, line 10 - col. 4, line 46). Birkert, et al. teaches a circuit (10) and diode rectifier (4) changing the alternating current to direct current. The patents to Waak and Ahn have been cited to teach mechanical gear structure for controlling movement in toasters, per se, to be obvious and well known in the art. Thus, it would have been an obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to have provided either one of Arnedo, et al. or Birkert, et al. with mechanical gear means in the manner suggested by either one of Waak (i.e. Figs. 1 & 6) or Ahn (i.e. Fig. 1) in order to move the rack mechanically with gears, if so desired. The precise arrangement of parts is nothing more than a matter of obvious design choice to a skilled artisan. The remaining limitations would then have been obvious design choices only.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to the claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new grounds of rejection.
